DETAILED ACTION

Response to Amendment

1. This Office action is in response to the Amendment filed 03/23/2009, wherein claims 1 and 4 have been cancelled and new claims 25-28 have been added. Claims 2, 3, 5-7 and 13-28 are pending in this application.

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments, see Remarks (pages 7-13), filed 03/23/2009, with respect to the rejection of claims 1-8 and 13-24 have been fully considered and are persuasive. The rejection of the claims has been withdrawn.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 2, 3, 5-7 and 13-28 are allowed.

4. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The present claims are allowable over the closest prior art references Anchor et al. (US 5,478,883) and Gopalkrishnan et al. (US 5,733,861).

The independent claim 25 recites a polymer made of monomer A, monomer B, and optionally monomer C, wherein the molar ratio of A to B is 1:1 to 1:6 and wherein A is at least one alkoxyated diallylamine, B is at least one unsaturated mono- or dicarboxylic acid, anhydride thereof, or mixtures thereof, and C is an unsaturated monomer.

Art Unit: 1796

Each of the two references teaches a polymer made of at least an alkoxylated diallylamine and an unsaturated carboxylic acid. However, the disclosed molar ratio of these two monomers is much smaller than the claimed value. The range of said molar ratio taught by Gopalkrishnan does touch the claimed range. However, (1) since Gopalkrishnan teaches away from increasing the proportion of the diallylamine monomer, (2) since alkoxylated diallylamine is often employed as a reactive surfactant and, accordingly, only a small amount of which is used in a polymer, and (3) since the fields of endeavor of the references and the claimed invention are different, the examiner finds no obvious reasons for one skilled in the art to modify the prior art polymers by increasing the proportion of the diallylamine monomer to arrive at the claimed invention.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
